Accessibility and Equality Policy and Plan 2021 - 2022

This Accessibility Policy and Plan are drawn up in compliance with current legislation and requirements as specified in Schedule 10, relating to Disability, of the Equality Act 2010. The Osborne Co-operative Academy Trust and the Local Governing Body of Little Thurrock Primary School are accountable for ensuring the implementation, review and reporting on progress of the Accessibility Plan over a prescribed period.

Little Thurrock Primary School is committed to providing an accessible environment which values and includes all pupils, staff, parents/carers and visitors regardless of their education, physical, sensory, social, spiritual, emotional and cultural needs. We are committed to working together to provide an inspirational and exciting learning environment where all children can develop an enthusiasm for life-long learning. We believe that children should feel happy, safe and valued so that they gain a respectful, caring attitude towards each other and the environment both locally and globally. We are committed to challenging negative attitudes about disability and accessibility and to developing a culture of awareness, tolerance and inclusion. We plan, over time, to ensure the accessibility of provision for all pupils, staff and visitors to the school. The Accessibility Plan will be reviewed an annual basis.

Under the Equality Act 2010, the school complies with the general equality duty and the new specific duties. The Equality Duty now includes all those with protected characteristics, which makes it unlawful for a school to discriminate against a pupil or prospective pupil by treating them less favourably because of their:

- sex
- race
- disability
- religion or belief
- sexual orientation
- gender reassignment
- pregnancy or maternity

General Equality Duty

The Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED) has three main elements.

1. Eliminate discrimination and other conduct that is prohibited by the Act,
2. Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it,
3. Foster good relations across all characteristics - between those who share a protected characteristic and those who do not.

The duty to have “due regard” to equality considerations means that whenever significant decisions are being made or policies developed, thought must be given to the equality implications.

Specific duties

Schools have a duty to make reasonable adjustments for pupils with a disability. The DfE non-statutory guidance states that this duty can be summarised as follows:

- If a disabled pupil is placed at a disadvantage compared to other pupils then the school must take reasonable adjustments to try to reduce/remove the disadvantage.
- Schools will be expected to provide an auxiliary aid or service for a disabled pupil when it would be reasonable to do so and if such an aid would alleviate any substantial disadvantage that the pupil faces in comparison to non-disabled pupils.
- Schools are not subject to the other reasonable adjustment duty to make alterations to physical features because this is already considered as part of their planning duties.

Reasonable adjustments

Factors a school may consider when assessing the reasonableness of an adjustment, may include the financial or other resources required for the adjustment, its effectiveness, its effect on other pupils, health and safety requirements and whether aids have been made available through the Special Educational Needs route. Cost will play a major part in determining what is reasonable. For example, a small rural primary school may not be able to provide specialised IT equipment for any disabled pupils who may need it and it may not be reasonable for the school to provide that equipment. On the other hand, a much larger school might reasonably be expected to provide it.

The guidance states that many pupils with a disability will have an EHCP (Educational Health Care Plan) and potentially auxiliary aids provided by the LA and so may not require anything further. However, if the disabled pupil does not have an EHCP (or the EHCP doesn't provide the necessary aid) then the duty to consider reasonable adjustments and provide such auxiliary aids will fall to the school (after the relevant provisions come into force). The reasonable adjustments duties on schools are intended to complement the accessibility planning duties and the existing EHCP provisions which are part of education legislation, under which Local Authorities have a duty to provide auxiliary aids to pupils with an EHCP. In addition to the duty to consider reasonable adjustments for particular individual disabled pupils, schools will also have to consider potential adjustments which may be needed for disabled pupils generally.

Current good practice

We aim to ask about any SEND, additional or medical needs in early communications with new parents/carers. For parents/carers of children already at the school, we collect information regularly and have an open door policy to enable them to share views or concerns, we also have parent/carer consultation meetings three times a year. Regular reviews are undertaken for children who have an EHCP.

Accessibility planning

Accessibility plans in Little Thurrock Primary School are aimed at:

- Increasing the extent to which those pupils with protected characteristics can participate in the curriculum;
- Improving the physical environment of schools to enable those pupils with protected characteristics pupils to take better advantage of education, benefits, facilities and services provided; and
- Improving the availability of accessible information to those pupils with protected characteristics pupils.

An accessibility plan may be a freestanding document but may also be published as part of another document such as the school development plan.

Increasing the extent to which disabled pupils can participate in the curriculum

The curriculum covers teaching and learning and wider provision embracing after school clubs; sporting and cultural activities; and school trips. Planning for improved access to the curriculum includes consideration of school and classroom organisation and support, timetabling, curriculum options, deployment of staff and staff information and training. Curriculum audits can support the school to review patterns of achievement and participation by those pupils with protected characteristics in different areas of the curriculum, e.g. the inclusion of physically disabled children in PE, and then to identify action to increase participation.

Improving the physical environment of schools

This strand of the planning duty covers improvements to the physical environment of the school and physical aids to access education. The physical environment includes steps, kerbs, exterior surfaces and paving, parking areas, building entrances and exits (including emergency escape routes), internal and external doors, gates, toilets and washing facilities, lighting, heating, ventilation, floor coverings, signs, interior surfaces, room decor and furniture. Improvements to physical access include ramps, handrails, lifts, widened doorways, electromagnetic doors, adapted toilets and washing facilities, adjustable lighting, blinds, induction loops and communication aids. The provision of 'quiet' areas and improvements to the physical safety of the environment, indoors and outdoors, may also enhance access for children with learning disabilities. Physical aids to access education cover ICT equipment, desks, chairs, writing equipment.

Improving the availability of accessible information to disabled pupils

This part of the duty covers planning to make written information normally provided by the school to its pupils – such as handouts, timetables, textbooks, information about school events – available to those with a disability (including those with significant low reading acquisition levels). This might include alternative formats such as large print, braille, the use of ICT and the provision of information orally, through lip speaking or in sign language. The information should take account of pupils' disabilities and views expressed by pupils or their parent/carers about their preferred means of communication. The school will consider how all information normally provided in a written format including, school test papers, newsletters, information about school events, trips and extracurricular provision could be made accessible to all those with a disability.
